

Joining Undergraduate Degree Programs In Yemen

By Nora Al Baghdadi

It is a very common practice today to do one's bachelors degree programs or undergraduate degree programs in an international university. Previously students used to travel abroad mostly for their post graduate degrees but today, more and more students have started traveling to international universities even for their bachelors degree programs. Yemen too is becoming one of the hot destinations for these international students. If you are one such international student that likes to do your bachelors degree program in Yemen, there are certain things that you should know prior to joining your degree program. You will have to make yourself familiar with the enrolment formalities and the requirements for joining a college in Yemen as an international student.

Firstly, you should check for the visa requirements because only when you get the visa, you will be able to travel into the country. The first step that you will have to take is to understand your visa related requirements. You must also find out what are the possible issues that you can come across when you start processing your Yemen visa.

The next step is to find out which are the colleges that are offering the courses that you need in Yemen. You should also find out whether the courses for which you are enrolling are recognized in your country or the countries in which you would like to work. In other words, you should check whether the university that you like to join has all the required accreditations.

When you are planning to move to Yemen for your undergraduate degree programs, you should have all the details crosschecked. Never make your decisions or make any efforts just based on presumptions.

The next factor to be taken into account is the overall expenses involved in completing your bachelors degree program in Yemen. When you are calculating your expenses, it is not enough that you take into account just the course fee, as an international student you are likely to have many other expenses. Your accommodation expenses will contribute towards the major portion of your overall expenses. So when you are calculating the expenses, you will have to list all the factors possible such as the course fee, accommodation, food, local transportation, travel expenses, medical expenses and insurance premium if you are required to take any insurance.

As you are likely to invest a considerable amount of money in joining and completing your undergraduate degree program in Yemen, you should make sure that you are joining the best institution possible in Yemen. You should be able to find affordable private educations in Yemen without compromising on the quality of the education you receive. The educational institution that you join should have good infrastructure and facilities. All the money that you spend on your undergraduate degree program will prove to be useful and valuable only when you select the right practical learning university in Yemen. Al-Nasser University enjoys very good reputation among international students by providing unparalleled educational services to the international student community.
